

Wedding workshop planned

The DeKalb Convention & Visitors Bureau (DCVB) will host a free wedding planning workshop on Feb. 7 from 9 a.m. until noon at the Courtyard by Marriott –Northlake. The workshop will feature step-by-step instruction on the phases of wedding planning. DCVB wedding specialist Sharon Dupont states, “The best way to start planning a wedding is by attending our free workshops. Whether you desire a formal, casual, traditional or culture-themed wedding, we will assist you in making your dream a reality.”

The workshop topics include: Timeline for Planning, Wedding Vendors and Facilities, Wedding Etiquette and Tips and Trends. Dupont also provides workshop attendees with a free copy of Your Guide to the Perfect Wedding, a directory of DeKalb County wedding vendors, including hotels, event facilities, caterers, photographers, retail shops, salons, spas and additional wedding-related services.

At the workshop, planners and brides will be told of the services that DCVB provides when booking hotel room nights in DeKalb County for their attendants and guests. Attendees are encouraged to use the free bridal services offered by DCVB, including assistance in finding wedding vendors and accommodations, scheduling site tours of hotels and event facilities and wedding gift bags for guests that include helpful information about DeKalb County.

DCVB Wedding Planning Workshops are held throughout the year. For a complete schedule of workshops visit www.dcvb.org. To register to attend a wedding planning workshop e-mail Sharon Dupont at sharond@dcvb.org or call (770) 492-5042.
